

The Presence of Leadership

A workshop for Asian Americans who want to step to the next level of leadership

As Asian Americans, we want to fully participate in all aspects of society, but we want to do it authentically grounded in who we are. This workshop is designed for Asian Americans, who want to enhance your authentic power and presence in order to be more influential, more inspiring, more impactful.

This workshop is designed for people who:

- Want more success
- Want to get the next promotion
- Want to move into management positions
- Want to lead others in some realm or lead teams
- Want to communicate more effectively
- Want to leave self limiting behaviors behind
- Want to leverage authentic strengths, not be somebody else
- Want to explore their edge, want to grow and stretch

Through two days of interactive, experiential exercises, you will:

- Deepen your understanding of your authentic strengths
- Understand your impact on others, how you come across
- Leverage and maximize your natural presence
- Integrate and leverage your body and your mind
- Explore the cultural challenges and tensions
- Practice taking a stand for your ideas, making your opinion known
- Practice communicating and inspiring others
- Practice confronting others and dealing with conflict

To schedule Judy Tso for your next event, contact her by phone at (617) 524-4980, fax at (501) 423-1067 or e-mail at judytso@ahasolutions.org.

To learn more, visit www.ahasolutions.org.

Judy Tso

Judy Tso, MAA, is a passionate, dynamic and humorous speaker.

As an anthropologist, consultant, performing artist and founder of Aha Solutions Unlimited, her life mission is to help humans relate across all differences.

Judy holds degrees in Economics from the Wharton School of Business and Applied Anthropology from University of Maryland. She is a member of the National Speakers Association, a board member of the National Association for the Practice of Anthropology and is a 2002 Boston Artist Fellow.

Ms. Tso has appeared in the New York Times, on television on Boston's Asian Focus and on various radio shows nationwide. She has written for such publications as the Design Management Journal, Practicing Anthropology and Nursezone.com.

Christina Chan

Christina R. Chan is an actor, activist, and accidental playwright. Her work focuses on Asian American women and immigration issues. Christina is a 2002 Somerville Artist

Fellow, a program of the Somerville Arts Council. She was an artist in residence at the Boston Center for the Arts. This year is the tenth year anniversary of her first solo performance piece, Unbinding Our Lives (written by Geralyn Horton), which tours nationally to universities and colleges. She is a graduate of Trinity Rep Conservatory.